

(READING SECTION-11)Directions (1-10) : Passage.

Raghu has been orphaned when he was quite young so he had learned to fend for himself. One day he was very hungry. Wondering what to do, he happened to pass a sweet shop and heard the shopkeeper tell his young assistant, "Look after the shop while I take a nap. Call me only if something important comes up." Raghu smelt an opportunity. He waited for a short time and then entered. "I am the owner's best friend's son. Give me the best sweets in the shop." The boy was suspicious and asked him his name. "My name is Fly," said Raghu helping himself to some jalebis. As he sat eating, the boy ran to the owner, "Fly is eating the sweets. What should I do?" The sweet shop owner was in a deep sleep. He mumbled, "How much can a fly eat? Let him eat." Then he turned over and started snoring loudly. The poor boy could do nothing but watch him demolish a plate of jalebis. Finally Raghu took two boxes of the best sweets in the shop and left without paying.

The boxes he presented to Mahadev saying, "Here is a present for our city's greatest man. Please accept this. I am a poor man and have nothing else to give you". Seeing the box full of expensive sweets Mahadev, who rarely parted with money was delighted. "Sir," continued Raghu, "I have only one request. May I have the empty boxes back please?" Mahadev was only interested in the sweets so he said graciously. "Of course. Ask my wife to give you two vessels for the sweets." Raghu went to Mahadev's wife and said, "Your husband has asked you to give me two gold coins." The woman who was cooking lunch was astonished and said, "Are you out of your mind? My husband would never say such a thing!" So Raghu called out to Mahadev, "Your wife is refusing to give me what I asked for." Mahadev was negotiating a handsome deal in his shop. Irritated by the disturbance he called out, "Give him what he wants." So Raghu left with two gold coins in his pocket.

Days went by and Raghu made his living through his smooth talk and tall promises. The King heard about this. Raghu was brought to him under arrest. The King heard his story in silence and then said, "Since you are so clever, study with the best pundits in the land. Use your wits for the betterment of the kingdom." Raghu was silent. No one had praised him or offered him a better life before. He accepted the King's terms and one day he came to be known as one of the wisest of his ministers.

1. Why did the boy allow Raghu to leave without paying for the sweets?
 - (i) He did not want to offend a good customer by insisting on payment.
 - (ii) He did not want to start an argument and wake up the owner.
 - (iii) He saw how hungry Raghu was and felt sorry for him.

(A) Only i (B) Only ii
(C) Both i and ii (D) Only iii
2. Which of the following is not true in the context of the passage?
 - (A) Raghu was cunning and depended on his wits to survive.
 - (B) Mahadev was a miserly merchant.
 - (C) Raghu's parents had died when he was young.
 - (D) The King rarely consulted his ministers before making a decision.
3. Why did Raghu visit the sweet shop?
 - (A) The smell of sweets distracted him from his hunger.
 - (B) He was hungry and wanted to buy some sweets.
 - (C) He knew he would get sweets for free since his father had known the owner.
 - (D) None of these
4. Why did Raghu agree to the King's offer?
 - (A) His other option would be severe punishment.
 - (B) He had dreamed of being a minister one day.
 - (C) To test his wits against the best teachers.
 - (D) He realised the value of the opportunity he was being given.
5. What made Raghu gift Mahadev two boxes of sweets?
 - (A) To show his admiration
 - (B) To impress Mahadev so that he would employ him
 - (C) To make Mahadev feel ashamed for not treating him well in the past
 - (D) None of these
6. Why was Raghu brought before the king?
 - (A) The King had heard of his cleverness and wanted to meet and reward him.

- (B) He had cheated many people and was brought before the king for judgement.
 (C) Since he was an orphan the King felt sorry for him and wanted to help him.
 (D) The King considered him to be cleverer than many of his own ministers.
7. Why did Raghu ask Mahadev for the empty sweet boxes ?
 (A) He planned to use them to trick someone else.
 (B) He was poor and saved anything he thought could be of value.
 (C) He thought Mahadev would appreciate his thrifty nature.
 (D) None of these
8. Why did the owner leave the young boy in charge of the sweet shop ?
 (A) To teach him how to run the business
 (B) The owner was sleepy and wanted to rest.
 (C) There were no customers in the shop at that time.
 (D) He knew the boy would call him if a customer arrived.
9. Why did Mahadev's wife refuse to give Raghu two gold coins at first ?
 (A) She thought that the sweets were not worth that much.
 (B) She was busy cooking and did not want to be disturbed.
 (C) Knowing Mahadev was a miser she thought Raghu was lying.
 (D) She did nothing without first getting Mahadev's permission.
10. Which of the following can be said about Raghu ?
 i. He was honest ii. He was just
 iii. He was clever
 (A) Only i (B) Only ii
 (C) Only iii (D) None of these

Directions (11-15) :

Tennis is a game that gives one plenty of exercise; it develops ...(11)... of eye and limb and ...(12)... the brain too into ...(13)... A few sets of tennis keep one physically and ...(14)... fit. But for the indoors, chess is the queen of games. People say chess is a ...(15)... game because only two can play.

11. (A) movement (B) swiftness
 (C) quickness (D) agility
12. (A) commands (B) asks
 (C) signals (D) calls
13. (A) response (B) play
 (C) work (D) action

14. (A) intellectually (B) emotionally
 (C) mentally (D) logically
15. (A) selfish (B) mean
 (C) carefree (D) careless

Directins (16-35) :

16. That was(A) /the most unique opportunity (B) /he got in his life.(C)/No error. (D)
17. No sooner(A) /they had received the guests (B) /than they began entertaining them.(C)/No error. (D)
18. Supposing if (A) /it rains (B) /what shall we do ? (C) / No error (D)
19. I would (A) /accept the offer (B)/if I were you. (C) /No error (D)
20. If he is a millionaire (A)/he would help (B)/the millennium project.(C) /No error (D)
21. When I shall see him(A) /I shall(B) /tell him. (C)/No error (D)
22. If you had told me (A) /I would have helped you (B) /solve the problem. (C) /No error. (D)
23. "The Arabian Nights" (A)/are indeed (B)/an interesting book(C) /No error (D)
24. No sooner did the teacher (A)/enter the class room (B) /the students got up. (C) /No error (D)
25. As soon as (A)/the lion saw the deer (B) /he began to run after it. (C)/No error. (D)
26. He not only comes here (A)/ for swimming but also for coaching (B)/ new swimmers. (C)/ No error. (D)
27. He will certainly help you (A) /if you will ask him (B) /in a pleasant manner. (C) /No error. (D)
28. Had he follow (A) /the directions carefully (B) /he would have felt (C) /better much quicker. (D) / No error.(E)
29. He would not have (A) /written this letter (B) /if he would not have (C) / heard the news. / No error. (D)
30. No sooner did (A)/ the train arrived at the station (B)/ than the passengers (C)/ rushed towards it. (D)/ No error. (E)
31. Both Shyam (A)/ as well as Ghanshyam (B)/ are interested to (C)/ prepare the examination. (D)/ No error.(E)
32. Scarcely had I bought (A)/ the ticket than (B)/ the postmaster showed (C)/ the green flag. (D)/ No error. (E)
33. Fifteen years (A)/ have passed (B)/ that he came back (C)/ from Darbhanga. (D)/ No error. (E)
34. Either you (A)/ and he (B)/ went there (C)/ to see the helpless. (D)/ No error. (E)
35. Hardly had (A)/ I left the house (B)/ than it began (C)/ to rain. (D)/ No error. (E)

